Dear Jim,

Kalista, a teenager at our Boys Ranch campus, was recently sharing with me how you're helping her to recognize her own worth, and I thought you'd find the moment as special as I did. Kalista's story is another reason why I'm so thankful for your gift of 10 copies of the children's magazine, "Deception".

Young people like Kalista have so many meaningful experiences at Cal Farley's, all designed to nurture them and show them that real hope for their future is attainable. It's fulfilling to see each child identify with a program or activity that most touches him or her. For Kalista, it's the experience of participating in Cal Farley's chapel program and building healthy relationships with chapel mentors that remind her how priceless her life is. Kalista enjoys teaching Sunday school to younger children and passing on the timeless values her time at Cal Farley's instilled in her. She enjoys helping her younger peers find their own peace by being a mentor and a shoulder to lean on.

For a young lady who has been through so much in her 16 years, the kindness your support lets us show her is irreplaceable. Your kindness, which is helping her find the courage to face her struggles, is an incredible gift.

And do you know what three things she is reminded of when she thinks of your generosity to Cal Farley's? I remember it so clearly: She said, "I'm beautiful, I'm valuable and I'm worthy of love."

Thank you for showing Kalista how important she is!

Sincerely,

Dan Adams
